

My practice is focused on commercial litigation and business transactions. The majority of my work is related to construction, commercial collection, bankruptcy, banking, and real estate. Although early in career I performed work for debtors, creditors, and trustees in bankruptcy, for the past fifteen years all my bankruptcy work is for creditors.

I began practicing law in 1992 at Wood & Jones, a small Seattle based bankruptcy firm. I'm currently a partner at the Bellevue based business firm, Peterson Russell Kelly. I obtained my undergraduate degree in business finance from the University of Washington. I graduated from the University of Puget Sound Law School, now Seattle University, in 1992.
