Alan Wenokur has been a Seattle bankruptcy attorney since 1988. He opened his solo practice in 1991, and recently formed the Wenokur Riordan law firm.

Alan regularly assists both individuals and businesses in bankruptcy cases and out-of-court workouts. His practice emphasizes representation of debtors in Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 bankruptcy cases, creditors in all bankruptcy proceedings, and bankruptcy litigation in all chapters. His debtor practice typically involves individuals with struggling businesses and complex financial affairs.

Alan's work includes representing a number of Chapter 7 panel trustees in cases involving recovery of assets. These matters often feature undisclosed assets, fraudulent behavior, litigation, and/or recovery of speculative assets. He enjoys matters involving complex fact patterns, unsettled legal issues, and litigation in the Bankruptcy Courts.

Alan is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School. He is a member of the Washington State Bar creditor/debtor section and the US Bankruptcy Court local rules committee. He is rated as AV-preeminent by Martindale Hubbell. Since 2012 he has been selected annually by his peers as a bankruptcy "SuperLawyer." He speaks regularly at professional seminars, often on the role and responsibilities of debtor's counsel in Chapter 7 cases. Alan has also volunteered his services with the King County Bar Association's Debt Clinic for over 20 years.
