

THOMAS D. NEELEMAN is the founding member of The Neeleman Law Group, a multi-office bankruptcy and insolvency firm with offices located in Everett and Bellingham, Washington. The firm represents primarily consumer and small business clients. Mr. Neeleman has over 30 years of bankruptcy related experience and serves as lead litigation counsel for the firm. Mr. Neeleman is extensively involved in the firm's motion practice and manages all adversary litigation for the firm.

Mr. Neeleman received dual undergraduate degrees in Business Finance and Business Management from the University of Utah and received a Masters of Business Administration and Juris Doctorate from Brigham Young University. Mr. Neeleman also completed post-graduate training in Mediation and Alternative Dispute Resolution at the University of Utah. Mr. Neeleman has argued before the 10th Circuit Bankruptcy Appellate Panel and 10th Circuit Court of Appeals. Mr. Neeleman has been a seminar presenter on topics including Chapter 13 debtor representation, bankruptcy and divorce, electronic court filing, implementing the paperless law office, and remote computer access to the law firm environment.

Mr. Neeleman has served as a mediator in many cases involving property division, financial liability and domestic property rights. Mr. Neeleman is committed to the utilization of collaborative settlement methods and believes strongly in the benefits of reaching an accord through the mediation process.